Michael Gerard Bauer was born in Brisbane and lives in the suburb of Ashgrove, the setting of The Running Man. Since completing a BA and DipEd at the University of Queensland, he taught at schools in the Brisbane–Ipswich region for more years than he cares to admit before resigning from full-time teaching in 2000 to pursue his dream of being a published writer. As unbelievable as it seems to him, Michael is now a full-time writer.

AWARDS

Brisbane Writers Festival 2003, Winner, Writesmall micro-fiction competition for stories of exactly 100 words.

The Running Man was winner of the CBCA Book of the Year (Older Readers) award, and shortlisted in both the NSW Premier's Literary Awards and the Victorian Premier's Literary Awards in 2005. It was also the winner of the Courier Mail Readers' Choice Award, and shortlisted for the Courier Mail Book of the Year for Younger Readers Award. In 2006 The Running Man was shortlisted for the SA Festival Awards for Literature. In 2008 it was shortlisted for the prestigious German literature prize, the Katholischer Kinder- und Jugendbuchpreis.
